Emergency Response Plan

Discuss this information with your counselor, utilizing the information you learned from requirement 2b. When a fire destroys plant material, it can cause severe soil erosion, which increases the risk of future floods.

Emergency Planning with Children

Depending on when, where and how it was designed and built, your home may have that make it particularly vulnerable to earthquakes. Marine plywood is highly recommended; particleboard is a no-no.

Multiple people should be trained to broadcast a lockdown warning from a safe location. It comes in a very clear format, making it easy to use, with plenty of space to write in. The research report and its companion documents findings from peer-reviewed research and presents recommendations for informing community members about risk and providing effective warnings.
