NS&I Premium Bonds: how winners and prizes are picked

A man from Suffolk bought his winning Bond in June 2017, the 60th anniversary of the first Premium Bonds prize draw. But only the nominated parent or guardian will be able to manage and cash in the Bonds.

How Premium Bonds work

One lucky Bond holder in Northern Ireland has done just that and scooped a £1,000 tax-free prize with a Bond that was purchased in March 1959. Meanwhile, , however a Premium Bond holder in South West Wales has an extra reason to celebrate this month as Agent Million will be delivering some good news.

How Premium Bonds work

Both winners are male, with one being from Hertfordshire. This prize-winning lump-sum investment of £40,000 brought his total investment up to the maximum investment of £50,000.

How we share out Premium Bonds prizes

It is also likely to be useful information for those contemplating whether they should purchase Premium Bonds.
