Marine park for Antarctica relies on EU engaging China: law expert

Macquarie University Associate Professor Nengye Liu will this week present to the European Parliament, advising the Members of the Parliament and high-level EU officials how to effectively engage with China to secure proposed new conservation zones to protect vital marine ecosystems in Antarctica. You and we have the right to know, learn, read, hear what and how we deem appropriate. We endeavour to provide the community with real-time access to true unfiltered news firsthand from primary sources.
