They had no real status in the society, not being respected as wife, mother or daughter.

Women in Islam

She should be ashamed of her dress, for it is the memorial of her fall. By the same principle, women also have the right to seek divorce if they are dissatisfied with their marriage. What the emir saw as especially reminiscent of prostitution was the process of courtship among independent women.

Purdah and the Status of Woman in Islam

This kind of language can make unmarried women feel inferior and can reinforce the notion that they must marry in order to gain social stature. For example, women inherit half of what a man would and, in court, a woman's testimony is only considered half as serious as that of a man. Blood Magic: The Anthropology of Menstruation.
