Many new buildings and colonies have come up in between those nine lakes.

Every Drop Counts by Jill C. Wheeler

Rainwater collected in this lake spread over many miles. So there is less crowding. Drop-by-drop Besides Jaisalmer, many places in Rajasthan, get very little rainfall.

Every drop counts?! Why is water conservation important.

King Ghadsi of Jaisalmer got it made 650 years ago with the help of the people. At some places, whenever lakes get filled up with rainwater, the people gather around the lake to celebrate. In that time, the low-flow shower head will put out 14 gallons, while the standard shower head sends out 20 gallons.
