ORIGIN & HISTORY OF CULTISM IN NIGERIAN UNIVERSITIES

NEO BLACK MOVEMENT Black axe confraternity This was founded in University of Benin in 1984.

History of cultism in Nigeria

This major assault on the academia was not enough to trigger an ASUU strike in protest against a clear debasement of their sphere of influence and control.

Some confraternities were protected by universities vice-chancellors who used them to attack students that challenged their authorities. This is aside from various criminal activities such as broad daylight robbery, intimidation of fellow students and the community, rape, etc which are going on in various campuses and affiliated communities.

History

What can be deduced from this is that the Nigerian society has not changed from its terrible past of the military jackboot absolutism and political bankruptcy.
