Widening Contact with Gentile World: In another direction, the widening contact of Christianity with the Gentileworld had stimulated the development of doctrine.

and Congruence: The Ethics of Integrity in the Johannine by Paul N. Anderson

Rather, he argues that the author of the Fourth Gospel set out precisely to supplant one revelation with another, and this because of the profound religious experience of the Evangelist, who turned from being a practicing Jew to experiencing a new revelation centered on Christ as the intermediary between God and humanity. The Logos-Doctrine in John: In the Word was life, not merely self-existing but self-imparting, so that it became the light of men John 1:4 - the true light, which, coming into the world, lighteth every man John 1:9.

and Congruence: The Ethics of Integrity in the Johannine by Paul N. Anderson

For the original work Harnack gives as a possible date the beginning of the Christian era, the Christian redaction falling within the 1st century.

Johannine Ethics

They had taken up their cross and followed Jesus to the end. Generally, the letter is thought to have a prologue and an epilogue, but scholars disagree about the number of thematic divisions within the body of the letter. Sin: It is true that Christ not only takes away the sin of the world , but also draws it forth in its utmost intensity and guilt.

Johannine Ethics: The Moral World of the Gospel and Epistles of John

With one voice they put to rest these outrageous views of the nature of the Lord.

Johannine Ethics: The Moral World of the Gospel and Epistles of John

Paul, Christ's death is related to His own love: Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends' 15:13. For Toan Do, too much of a focus on intellectual understanding is already evidence of deep incomprehension in its prioritisation of cognition over love. This study offers a unique account of the theology and message of Revelation.
