Bilybara : the Aboriginal languages of the Pilbara region of Western Australia / Janet Sharp and Nic...

This research led to the publication of a Badimaya Sketch Grammar in 1988.

A48: Ngarla

. Note that Dixon 2002 lists Ngarluwangka A48 as a possible dialect of Watjarri along with Birdungu though its identity is uncertain and Nhugarn.

Ngarla Overview

The idolised figures were nicknamed Number One and Number Two. A sketch grammar of the language was written by Dench 1998.

Brushing off the kiss of death Mr Stewart was born on Pardoo Station and worked there from a young age, but the decades of arduous toil that were to come almost didn't happen when he was almost sent to Rottnest Island as a child. Many Pilbara people are deeply involved in native title issues, site surveys and various discussions with mining officials and have been for 40 years.

A48: Ngarla

I would sweep the mess and the rooms — I don't get paid for that.
