The Founding Fathers Feared Political Factions Would Tear the Nation Apart

France's longest-lasting governmental system since before the 1789, the Third Republic was consigned to the history books as being unloved and unwanted in the end. Another theory put forth is that the low rate of French population growth, relative to Germany, was due to a lower French birth rate perhaps due to the provision under French Revolutionary law that land must be divided up among all the sons or a large compensation paid — this led peasants to not want more than one son. In Algeria, land held by rich rose from 1,600,000 hectares in 1890 to 2,700,000 hectares in 1940; combined with similar operations in Morocco and Tunisia, the result was that North African agriculture became one of the most efficient in the world.

Thomas Jefferson

The people are free to decide, to do and undo. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for communicating French military secrets to the German Embassy in Paris and sent to the penal colony at in nicknamed la guillotine sèche, the dry guillotine, where he spent almost five years.

Founding of the Republican Party

About a third of French citizens consider themselves nonbelievers or atheists.

Second Republic

By 1915, the war economy went into high gear, as millions of French women and colonial men replaced the civilian roles of many of the 3 million soldiers.
