Connemara Ponies for Adoption

Although they reach maturity at five years old, they can live well into their 30s. The aim is to produce talented ponies and match them with compatible riders so that they can go on to reach their full potential.

Welcome

The body has good girth and the back is very strong.

Top eleven facts about Connemara ponies

They are now owned for adventure trails, working with kids, or show jumping and other English riding disciplines. Connemara ponies are social creatures just like humans and must have social interactions with their own kind in order to be happy and healthy.

Seaborne Farm

Today, these ponies are bred extensively in various parts of the world including Ireland and the United Kingdom. Special thanks to our sponsors, , , and , whose support makes our life-saving work possible.
