Policy

E Presiding FDA official's decision. Food businesses should apply the new labels where possible and where issues arise, these should be discussed directly with your inspecting officer. Regarding the brazil nuts question, since the nuts are both imported and the end product is still identifiable as brazil nuts, you would need to state the countries of origin on the food label.

USDA releases final GMO labeling rules

Take fat in this instance.

Food Labeling

FIC also required the introduction of rules regarding the indication of the country of origin or of the place of provenance for the meat of pigs, sheep, goat and poultry and rules in cases where the origin of the final product presented to the consumer is not the same as the origin of the principal ingredient s of the food.
