Charles Francis Hall

At least 4,000 years ago, the Unangan culture of the became distinct.

Life with the Esquimaux: The Narrative of Captain Charles Francis Hall, of the Whaling Barque from the 29th May, 1860, to the 13th September, 1862. With the Results of a Long Intercourse with the Innuits...

Although the name 'Eskimo' is commonly used in Alaska to refer to all Inuit and Yupik of the world, this name is considered derogatory in many other places because it was given by non-Inuit people and was said to mean 'eater of raw meat'. It is possible that Hall treated himself with the poison, as arsenic was a common ingredient of quack medicines of the time. Similar artifacts have been found in Siberia that date to perhaps 18,000 years ago.
