

Some considerations about the nature of an oath more particularly relating to our nationall covenant. Seriously propounded to all who truly feare God, and desire so to walk with Him, that they may enjoy peace of conscience. Wherein this quaerie is handled; whether the said nationall covenant hath those requisites in it, which according to Gods word ought to be in every oath. The consideration whereof is in this juncture of time the more seasonable, for that the said covenant is on the one hand too much adored by some, and on the other hand by others esteemed scarce oblieging, even them who have sworn it.

Printed for Robert Ibbitson -

Description: -

-Some considerations about the nature of an oath more particularly relating to our nationall covenant. Seriously propounded to all who truly feare God, and desire so to walk with Him, that they may enjoy peace of conscience. Wherein this quaerie is handled; whether the said nationall covenant hath those requisites in it, which according to Gods word ought to be in every oath. The consideration whereof is in this juncture of time the more seasonable, for that the said covenant is on the one hand too much adored by some, and on the other hand by others esteemed scarce oblieging, even them who have sworn it.

-Some considerations about the nature of an oath more particularly relating to our nationall covenant. Seriously propounded to all who truly feare God, and desire so to walk with Him, that they may enjoy peace of conscience. Wherein this quaerie is handled; whether the said nationall covenant hath those requisites in it, which according to Gods word ought to be in every oath. The consideration whereof is in this juncture of time the more seasonable, for that the said covenant is on the one hand too much adored by some, and on the other hand by others esteemed scarce oblieging, even them who have sworn it.

Notes: Wing: S4480.

This edition was published in 1649

Filesize: 23.68 MB

Tags: #

- < Some considerations about the nature of an oath more particularly relating to our nationall covenant. Seriously propounded to all who truly feare God, and desire so to walk with Him, that they may enjoy peace of conscience. Wherein this querie is handled; whether the said nationall covenant hath those requisites in it, which according to Gods word ought to be in every oath. The consideration whereof is in this juncture of time the more seasonable, for that the said covenant is on the one hand too much adored by some, and on the other hand by others esteemed scarce obliging, even them who have sworn it. ~ eBook

Related Books

- Toynbee at home
- Guia de bibliotecas jurídicas da cidade do Salvador
- Education and the common good - a moral philosophy of the curriculum
- CREON, a foreign events data set
- Factors that limit the quality, number and progress of randomised controlled trials