Selections from Hopkins's Letters by Gerard...

On this hint I set to work and, though my hand was out at first, produced one. I have quite lost sight of Mr. Incertainty that once gave scope to dream Of laughing enterprise and glory untold, Is now a blackness that no stars redeem, A wall of terror in a night of cold.

Selections from Hopkins's Letters by Gerard...

I like The Sailor Boy much. His best-known poems, however, are to be found in the two earlier volumes of Shorter Poems 1890, 1894. It occurred to me that the story of Floris in Italy is dramatic, and all of a sudden I began to turn it into a play.

Selections from Hopkins's Letters by Gerard...

Boadicea improves as one knows it; it is a grand thing, but I have perhaps your cautions in criticism are here useful doubts about the metre. Believe me, dear Sir, very sincerely yours Gerard Hopkins.

Selections from Hopkins's Letters by Gerard...

I have begun to doubt Tennyson. His edition of Hopkins' poetry that appeared in 1916 rescued it from obscurity.
