A mysterious heritage

Located in the scenic in France, this castle and the entire region boast a long and exciting history that spans many centuries. A parchment containing the genealogy of King Saint Dagobert II from 681 to 1244, when Jean VII married Elsinde de Gisors. When he appealed to the United States Court of Claims, the decision included harsh words for his legal abilities.

Introduction into the Mystery of Rennes

Zahn was an avid woodworker, creating bird sculptures to place outside his new house or sell for 35 cents each.

10 Creepy Abandoned Mansions

Lake Drive Schlesinger and McLaren Mansions, now held by UWM.

Chateau of Time

Such institutions as the Getty and the Metropolitan museums were forced to return treasures, and the Greeks have never given up pressure for the return of the Elgin Marbles, removed from the Parthenon two centuries ago and held by the British ever since. Speckled amidst the farms, bluffs and manicured estates of Door County are sites that seem a step out of place. Two of the larger buildings have been restored, Beaver says, with a commercial kitchen, rustic dining room and lounge and a huge granite fireplace.
