How to Reach Out to a Prospect You've Been Referred To Via Email

Brochures and business cards: Brochures kept in your office or mailed to potential and existing patients can be an effective marketing tool. As a token of our appreciation, my company Bourn Creative, sends hand-packed boxes of organic mandarins from our family farm to all of our clients and referral partners during the holidays. What if I ask the wrong question? Have any questions about it? Instead of suggesting everyone try to mention the program to patients, personalize it by asking a specific team member to ask a specific patient about a referral that day.

Guidance Services

Thank you for your time! Without a fail-safe tracking system, your busy recruiters may let referrals slip through the cracks without even realizing it. Available 3pm- midnight every day and moderated by trained LGBTQIA+ community members.
