FOIA: U.S. State Department

The Department of State administers information access programs including the , the , and the programs. It also allows for the Government to prescribe or designate other bodies receiving significant public funds, so that the FOI legislation applies to them also. At the time the FOI was created to help defend the members of the NOI and all others.

Freedom of Information Request

While FOIA allows for many records to be released, there are also nine exemptions that protect certain types of information, such as personal privacy and law enforcement interests.
