Women in Business: building a blueprint for action

Click on the different category headings to find out more. In other words, this is where the customer is directly interfacing with your brand in some capacity. More important to your business, however, is the fact that without an accurate appraisal of performance, minority and women employees will find it difficult to correct or defend their alleged shortcomings.

Women in Business

However, the 55 NAPs that have been adopted to date vary greatly, and opinions about their efficacy are divided.

Blueprint in education

This is no longer simply a question of common decency, it is a question of business survival. There were occasions, particularly at events and meetings where I felt overwhelmed.
