Bogomir Ecker

Ecker's works frequently transform everyday objects to the point of nonfunctionality. Bogomir Ecker has been collecting historical photographs for many years with an unconventional, artistic eye: from 19th-century landscapes from all over the world to classic press photography and sensationalist images of the USA in the 20th century. Ecker paints over and tears individual photos or entire newspapers, and isolates and distorts particular motifs in order to contest the veracity of the picture or to highlight the selectivity of press coverage.
