Recommendations

We also summarize and analyze the current legal and policy debate over the use of NRAs as presented in the literature and by the experts and stakeholders we interviewed. All management and professional staff agreed that an explicit discussion with residents and families about risk and of measures that can be taken to reduce risk can reduce providers' liability exposure.

Managing risks

They should not be alone with people who use services or provide intimate care.

A Unit Guide To Infection Prevention for Long

This policy outlines a process that encourages and enables staff to raise concerns about misconduct within the organisation without repercussion and sets out how any concerns raised will be investigated and resolved. Concerns about liability waivers are the primary reason consumer advocates from the legal profession oppose the use of NRAs, though they are joined by other consumer advocates, regulators, and some providers. Berkeley: University of CA Press.

Managing risks

The principles are the standard to which others can hold us to account. How are consumer care and services plans and risks communicated to members of the workforce who deliver personal and clinical care? The Care Inspectorate can make recommendations where we identify that a practice may lead to poor outcomes for people, but does not prescribe timescales for frequency of periodic checking.

Provider Resources

Where the use of restrictive practices is unavoidable, they must be safe and dignified and there needs to be a clear plan to reduce their use over time.
