The second reason is to build. Statistics demonstrate the success of South Korea's national education programs.

Saemaul Undong

South Koreans view education as the main propeller of social mobility for themselves and their family as a gateway to the South Korean middle class. The negative social stigma associated with vocational careers and not having a university degree also remains deep rooted in South Korean society.

Source: The foremost reason for the enactment of the Framework Act on Low Carbon, Green Growth is to implement measures to effectively address climate change and energy issues and promote sustainable development, which are partially implemented by various ministries and offices pursuant to respective Acts and subordinate statutes, by flexibly bringing them together or integrating them. A bachelor's degree requires up to 130 to 140 credit hours to complete. From 1967 to 1971, labor-intensive industries continued to absorb labor, together with a growing services sector, raising the income of the working population and, in particular, reducing poverty in urban areas.
