

City at war - Milwaukee labor during World War II

Wisconsin Historical Society Press - City At War

Description: -

-
Milwaukee (Wis.) -- Economic conditions.
Immigrants -- Wisconsin -- Milwaukee.
Industrial relations -- Wisconsin -- Milwaukee.city at war -
Milwaukee labor during World War II
-city at war - Milwaukee labor during World War II
Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. [163]-189) and index.
This edition was published in 2003

Filesize: 17.35 MB

Tags: #Emergency #Shipbuilding #Program

Rosie the Riveter

At the university level, Louisiana colleges typically suffered from declining enrollments as male students joined the military, though military training programs partially offset the resulting loss of income. In 1942, Eleanor Roosevelt stepped in, encouraging her husband, , to pass the Community Facilities Act, which led to the creation of the first U.

United States home front during World War II

Like the Rape of Nanking, or the siege of Stalingrad, the tragedy of Manila deserves far greater understanding and reflection today. In September 1917, a riot in erupted when an group objected to the pro-war, anti- harangue of August Guiliani, an minister. First in September 1942 ,the Liberty ship SS Joseph N.

World War II: Women on the Home Front

Milwaukee not only helped fill the ranks of the armed forces, but the city also helped with military mobilization in other ways.

WWII Casualties: Wisconsin

But the 29-day battle had only just begun. These non-officers, known as rank and file prisoners, could move around relatively freely.

Related Books

- Progress of Pan-Americanism - a historical survey of Latin-American opinion
- Nobody's children - the foster care crisis in Canada
- Acting out - understanding and reducing aggressive behaviour in children and youth
- Proposed revisions to the 1981-83 budget.
- Man and society in an age of reconstruction.