

Gentle pioneers - five nineteenth century Canadians. -

-

- - OGS Books: The Ontario Genealogical Society Collections

Description: -

-

Ontario -- Social conditions -- 19th century.

Ontario -- History -- 19th century.

Strickland family. Gentle pioneers - five nineteenth century Canadians.

--

-Gentle pioneers - five nineteenth century Canadians. --

Notes: 6

This edition was published in -

Filesize: 59.109 MB

Tags: #John #Wedderburn #Dunbar #Moodie #(1797

Magazines for sale

It offers a practical guide for English gentlewomen faced, as many were in the 1830s, with the formidable prospect of uprooting and emigration. His contributions include light verse, short stories, essays, and lectures. Montreal: National Council of Women, 1975.

writing in canada: authors: susanna moodie

Magazine Back Issues There is a pleasure in holding a periodical in your hands, feeling the tactile pleasure of paper passing between your fingers.

Gentle Pioneers Five Nineteenth Century Canadians

Valuable source material is also found in letters from several of the Strickland sisters in the Glyde coll. Toronto: National Council of Women of Canada, 1900. It was in this context that the resourcefulness of young Catharine clearly emerged.

Gentle Pioneers Five Nineteenth Century Canadians

They first purchased a farm near Cobourg, Upper Canada, in October 1832, and moved to uncleared land in Douro Township in the spring of 1834, but their lives as settlers were marked by difficulties of adjustment and errors in judgement which led to their abandonment of the pioneer role for residence in Belleville in 1839. Women of Canada: Their Life and Work. Thomas Strickland died, his estate significantly undermined by business reversals.

Gentle Pioneers Five Nineteenth Century Canadians

Source: STRICKLAND, CATHARINE PARR Traill, settler, author, teacher, and naturalist; b.

Gentle Pioneers Five Nineteenth Century Canadians

It was likely early in 1832 that she met Lieutenant Thomas Traill, a widowed Scot who was, like his friend John Wedderburn Dunbar , a half-pay officer formerly in the 21st Foot. Toronto: McClelland and Stewart, 1962.

John Wedderburn Dunbar Moodie (1797

Susanna Moodie: Voice and Vision.

Related Books

- Computer organization
- Reminiscences of the royal burgh of Haddington and old East Lothian agriculturists
- Papers on mineral deposits of Western North America - the International Association on the genesis o
- Famiglia, storia, società - studi e ricerche
- Ride the big red cars - how trolleys helped build southern California.