London (Government Policy) (Hansard, 24 February 1984)

That is what has happened with the Bill. That document remains a major work on the financial aspects of local government.

ABOLITION OF GLC AND METROPOLITAN COUNTY COUNCILS (Hansard, 12 December 1984)

In the consideration of devolution for Scotland and Wales, the point was made that if there is devolution in Scotland and Wales, we must also consider the democratisation of regional government in England.

On devolution and why it's what London needs

Sedgemoor I do not see any point in having a discussion with you until you have made a further study of the Arts' Council's work. Although these are independent organisations, the Mayor sets their budgets and appoints some of their board members so the relationship is close. Crosby had managed to win four successive victories for the Australian Prime Minister John Howard.

Devolution: the London Context by Andrew Walker

Heath had said in the House, with all the authority that he commands, that the manifesto commitment was included nine days after the 1983 election was called and against the wishes of the Conservative party policy committee. Porter made the most amazing and incoherent contribution. I am sure that my hon.
