His college is the result of a merger of four small colleges and is seeking to become even bigger in its discussions with South Nottingham college. It will be quite interesting when a school merges with a college - which is allowable under recent legislation.

The power of one

Inspections Independent Schools Inspectorate The Independent Schools Inspectorate reports to the Government through Ofsted on the quality of education in Independent Schools. They also receive monitoring visits. The notable success in sport and in extracurricular activities was also singled out for particular mention, as was the student's attitude to recycling and care of the environment.
