Lodges, 203 ; represented, 194 : initiated, 569 ; members, 12,168 ; new lodges, 4. The real object we had in putting this subject on the programme was to manifest the belief we had in that truth, and our desire to hear from the speakers to-night how each of the laity could best fulfil his responsibility to the great Head of the Church. Grand Lodge is specially indebted to the M.

Sir John Macdonald held sway in that Chamber for many years by the force of matchless political skill and dexterity, and in the latter period of his life was aided by a ripe and respected experience ; a deep personal affection on the part of mem- bers ; a devoted and united following. I invite a member on the Government side of the House to take a call and fill me in on that.
