Project Gemini

MSC-307 - USS Hornet Museum, Alameda, Calif. Spacecraft flight history inside covers.

Project Gemini

The conference program issued to attendees of the Gemini Summary Conference held at the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston, Texas during February 1 -2, 1967. The Conference had sections on Space Orbital Maneuvering, Man's Activities in Space, Operational Experience, Gemini Onboard Experiments, and Gemini summarization.

Project Gemini

Factual, from the standpoint of a chief flight controller during the Mercury, Gemini, and Apollo space programs. It was designed to dock with the Agena Target Vehicle, which had its own large rocket engine which was used to perform large orbital changes. NO changes have been made to the original text.

The fourth and final rearrangement of the Gemini crew assignment occurred after the deaths of See and Bassett when their trainer jet crashed, ironically into a McDonnell building which held their Gemini 9 capsule in St. Many components in the capsule itself were reachable through their own small access doors. This cleared the way through the crew rotation for Lovell and Aldrin to become the prime crew of Gemini 12.
