At home and abroad : a sketch

Weak from sea-sickness, hungry, chilled, and without a single acquaintance in the great city, my situation was about as hopeless as it is possible to conceive. I readily found the soda-water establishment, and was joined in the afternoon by my companion.

At Home And Abroad: A Sketch

What would Kraft and Durer have thought of the romances of Dumas and the battle-pieces of Vernet? Williams, who conducted us through the rooms. I reached Frankfort in an hour, and at once started in search of the American Consul. In one place only they touched the river.

At home and abroad: a sketch

To our surprise, the house was dark, and the doors locked. Willis deposited me safely in the eilwagen for Heidelberg, where I remained quietly until I knew enough German to travel with ease and comfort. I have not a very distinct recollection of our wwalk, except of the dim, imposing cathedral the first medieval church I ever entered , and some beautiful altar-pieces, from the pencil of Hans Hemling.

At home and abroad: a sketch

In London, a man's character is not so strictly measured by his place of residence as it is in New York.

At home and abroad: a sketch

Warwick will always be endeared to me by the recollection of the kind English hospitality I received within its walls. We then went to bed, and slept until the next morning.
