Women Demand Equality

It is not credible, I suspect, to very many members of this House. One difficulty with that is that it is simply not true. That is why their participation is so important.

Separation of Powers in Canada

There is still room for improvement. In each case, this Court has denied the assertion of any power which would offend against the basic principles of the Constitution.

Women Demand Equality

Subject to section 40, the legislature of each province may exclusively make laws amending the constitution of the province.

Canada, House of Commons Debates, "Resolution Respecting Constitution Act", 32nd Parl, 1st Sess (18 February 1981)

Questions A and B of the Quebec Reference submitted for answer and this Court's answers were as follows: Question A—If the Canada Act and the Constitution Act, 1981 should come into force and if they should be valid in all respects in Canada would they affect: i the legislative competence of the provincial legislatures in virtue of the Canadian Constitution? In the context of the Labour Conventions case, the issue in these appeals is whether the established incompetence of the federal government to encroach on provincial powers can be avoided through the use of the resolution procedure to effect a constitutional amendment passed at the behest of the federal government by the Parliament of the United Kingdom.
