

Longbridge pumping station.

- - River Derwent, Derbyshire

Description: -
-Longbridge pumping station.
-Longbridge pumping station.
Notes: Unpublished Ms [196-?]
This edition was published in 1960

Filesize: 28.71 MB

Tags: #River #Derwent, #Derbyshire

River Derwent, Derbyshire

The power of the Derwent is still harnessed at a number of these historic mill sites, producing from turbines instead of driving mill wheels, with a recent development being the construction of a hydro-electric station at Longbridge weir, adjacent to the Riverside Gardens in Derby. Derwent Valley Mills — World Heritage Site. Since April 2017, after the closure of the local , the Nadder Centre provides basic facilities for police officers patrolling the area.

Tisbury, Wiltshire

Gaston Manor, close to the High Street, is a former 14th-century which was rebuilt and then extended in the 16th and 17th centuries. An with the same name exists, covering Tisbury and.

Tisbury, Wiltshire

National Heritage List for England.

Tisbury, Wiltshire

Evidence of early human activity comes from the Middle Gravel at , a 400,000-year-old stratum, in which skull fragments of a young woman were found. The river was also used to power the many textile mills that were built along the Derwent between Matlock Bath and Derby. National Heritage List for England.

River Derwent, Derbyshire

Most of the ornamental is within the parish, as the stream which marked the parish boundary was submerged when the lake was expanded.

River Derwent, Derbyshire

In 1976 a team benefice was created to include the churches of Tisbury, , and ; today the parish is part of the Nadder Valley Team Ministry, a group of 15 churches. Dove's Guide for Church Bell Ringers.

Tisbury, Wiltshire

The four bells were recast in 1700 and two more added in 1720; all remain in place except one of the 1720 pair, which cracked and was recast in 1989. With a population at the 2011 census of 2,253 it is a centre for communities around the upper and. The monastery may have been founded as early as 705 and may have been sited near an old cemetery discovered north of Church Street.

Related Books

- Laporan penelitian dan penulisan biografi K.H. Ahmad Yasin di Propinsi Lampung
- Combate naval de Chiapa de Corzo
- Uchet i otchetnost' v domoupravleniakh
- Design
- Papauti - son origine au moyen ^age et son développement jusqu'en 1879