ABP: New study reveals the future growth prospects of the Port of Barrow's annual contribution to the UK economy

Liverpool law firm Brabners claims the North of England risks falling further behind the south in terms of economic growth without Government and private sector investment in road capacity and freight-readiness for rail. Unfortunately it then did a 90 degree turn and dropped down on the Pighue Lane side to join a branch off the Olive Mount Chord after crossing over the top of the existing Bootle Branch line tunnelled it's way under the Gridiron to the Chat Moss Line.

Liverpool2 could spearhead a new era of higher UK economic growth and productivity

This news is the latest in a string of positive announcements for the Port of Liverpool this year. The event focused on the transatlantic opportunities and the importance of strengthening trade links between the UK and the Americas. The fund will include a £20m loan fund for local businesses to invest in creating jobs and boosting productivity, and £15m to support SMEs in the event of a no-deal Brexit.

Liverpool2 expansion accelerates with major crane delivery

In addition, the region outperformed the UK average GVA per employee - in 2017, LCR maritime productivity stood at £81,461, while the UK average sat at £54,330. Had the original alignment of the circular line still be in place the story might be a little different and would have avoided any new tunnelling.
