Boyd's marriage index, Suffolk : Boyd, Percival, 1866

The index is particularly important to anyone researching East Anglian ancestry for not only is the coverage almost complete over 95% of all the ancient parishes are included , but little of this data is available anywhere else for example, the International Genealogical Index has very limited coverage of this area. For this reason, coupled with the identical structure of the Family Units and the Inhabitants of London sheets, we decided to combine the index to the Family Units with that for the Inhabitants of London. On average an Inhabitants of London sheet contains the names of six to seven people; the Family Units sheets contain on average the names of over 12 people.

Boyd's Marriage Index

Although all counties in England are included, none are entirely complete.

Boyd's Inhabitants of London and Boyd's Family Units

. The marriage record entries contain the first and last name of the bride and groom, the year, county and parish where the marriage took place, and source of the record.

Boyd's marriage index, Cambridgeshire : Boyd, Percival, 1866

. Cambridge, are almost complete , and the periods indexed vary according to the copies of records which were readily available. At present the Society of Genealogists' copy of the Index consists of 534 volumes containing about 6 to 7 million names.
