Literacy for Life: Further Results from the Adult Literacy and Life Skills Survey

The Parents as Tutors Program ended in 2008, providing the opportunity for Literacy for Life to fill the much needed gap for students and families looking for specialised and individual assistance in all aspects of literacy. Many students attend for our broader services of assisting clients with study and life skills, communication, skills to assist them to access employment, community and recreation skills, and skills to enable them greater independence.

William & Mary

The future is looking bright for literacy in Flint. We break out for some discreet Mathematics where a theme would not be an appropriate setting for this. MORE THAN 40% OF ABORIGINAL ADULTS HAVE LOW LITERACY.

Services

For news reporting purposes, we rely on fair use fair dealing for textual and media content to keep the public informed on the developments. It has grown from a humble 5 students per week in 2008 to over 100 students per week in 2017.

About

And we know that children who struggle to read at grade level often have parents who have low literacy skills. This is not the case at WBCA where we have a dedicated team of Literacy for Life teachers. Your support can change lives - End illiteracy now.

The HEAL Program

The benefits of having skilled, confident learners extends from the learners themselves, to their families, workplaces and communities. Volunteers are needed to tutor basic reading, math, GED preparation, and English as a Second language a minimum of two hours per week. The exemplary text then becomes the model for explicit teaching about writing.

WHO WE ARE We are a start up that's stepping up. Building on this evidence base, the Institute helped Literacy for Life Foundation design and carry out a longitudinal study of individual and community impacts, with a focus on measuring improvements in areas such as health, education and community safety. She teaches to make a difference in the lives of children for whom literacy is an everyday struggle and trauma.
