Guo Weihan and his disciples - facts and stories: There is no doubt Guo Weihan really existed - his name appears on Shenzhou - sheet of fabric on which the names of the dead belonging to one clan are recorded and which is hang on the wall during main Chinese festivals so that the living can kneel in front of it and pay respect to the dead ancestors - of Guo Clan. As already mentioned in the article about , we are still not clear how Xinyiquan as taught by Dai Clan in Shanxi province was transmitted to Li Laoneng, who is considered the father of Xingyiquan.

Huang Qi

This greatly limited Shu in terms of resources and manpower; although the country could efficiently defend itself, Shu could not easily launch successful campaigns. Catalogue Persistent Identifier APA Citation Guo li li shi bo wu guan China. After about six months of stalemate since the beginning of 222, Sun Quan's forces, led by , suddenly launched a counterattack, burnt down several Shu camps in a fire attack, and forced the remaining Shu forces to retreat.

MaWangDui DaoYi Shu (Guiding Qi)

Guo Weihan had eight main disciples, of which names of only five were mentioned to me: Guo San'er, Cheng Da, Cheng Er, Li Laoneng of Shenzhou in Hebei Province and Lü Haigen. I would recommend anyone, who is interested in raising and improving their health and fitness level and help others along the way, to take up this workshop.
