Overview of Food Ingredients, Additives & Colors

These color additives except coal-tar hair dyes are subject by law to approval by the agency and must be used only in compliance with the approved uses, specifications, and restrictions. It is recommended that regulatory authorities require better and independent toxicity testing, exercise greater caution regarding continued approval of these dyes, and in the future approve only well-tested, safe dyes. However, as with all food additives, all food colours are still legally required to meet their respective specifications.

NATCOL
