Guidance Note: External Referencing (including Benchmarking)

Benchmarking can be defined as a structured, collaborative learning process for comparing practices, processes or performance outcomes. Phase 1: Concept and scope This phase is about deciding what type of benchmarking to use, how to undertake it and with whom.

Assessment and Benchmarking

Subject Benchmark Statements are written by subject specialists and we facilitate this process. Vet Science In consultation with Deans of Vet Schools, the Chair of the SBS Veterinary Science working group and the RCVS, we have agreed that the information previously included within the Subject Benchmark Statement for Veterinary Science is now set out in an updated form in information provided by the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons RCVS. Thousand Oaks, CA: Corwin Press.

Practical Considerations When Using Benchmarking for Accountability in Higher Education

Choices or trade-offs will need to be made between the breadth number of partners and depth of assessment, as it will be more feasible to investigate more deeply with a smaller number of well-matched partners.
