That is, the structure of the education system can imply the structure of the society it seeks to reproduce, automatically giving it legitimacy. The other idea I found particularly interesting was another that was developed around an image that proved to be particularly potent — that of a young boy doing an exam and covering his work as he proceeded using both arms as shields so no one could see.

Another toilet may be one in which the toilet paper is on top of the cistern, the toilet seat may be either up or down depending on the sex and purpose. The last person using the toilet put it to, there may be books and crossword puzzles within handy reach and various postcards or other images and drawings may be displayed on the walls. Bernstein refers to it as an example of knowledge as private property.
