What Was The Suez Crisis?

The Suez Canal Authority officially opened the new site on 24 th February 2016. The shock to the British Government was very great because it had received no warning from its Intelligence that seizure was imminent. It earned him the anger of the British and the United States who initially withdrew the financial support that they had promised for the improvement of the canal.

There had actually been an increase in ships in both directions in the first four months of 2020 — 1,731 in 2020, up from 1,580 the previous year. The following day, however, British and French paratroops ignored the vote and landed in the Canal Zone. I cannot verify personally Secretary Dulles' use of the quoted words, for although when he came over to London I was with him in all the formal interchanges, I cannot be sure what he and Eden said to one another in their private talks.

10 Facts About the Suez Crisis

It angered the European powers, and after that Britain, France and Israel retaliated by threatening to invade Egypt.

How did they construct the Suez Canal?

Unfortunately, they erroneously reported that the Red Sea being around 30 ft higher than the Mediterranean Sea would result in floods of disastrous proportions should Napoleon try to build the Suez Canal. Meanwhile, the financial problems linked with the construction of the canal allowed the British government to buy the stakes owned by Egyptian interests in 1875 to become the major shareholder in the Suez Canal Company. As the East Container Terminal is located on the Canal itself, before the construction of the new side channel it was not possible to berth or unberth vessels at the terminal while a convoy was running.
