

Carnegie professional growth program - an experimental program for the in-service education of teachers

[School District no.1, Multnomah County, Oregon - ERIC

Description: -

- Teachers -- In-service training -- Oregon -- Portland. Carnegie professional growth program - an experimental program for the in-service education of teachers
- Carnegie professional growth program - an experimental program for the in-service education of teachers

Notes: SHORT CIRCULATION RECORD.

This edition was published in 1967

Filesize: 11.71 MB

Tags: #ERIC

Math for America DC

Washington, DC: Council of Chief State School Officers. Is mentoring worth the money? Results from a national sample of teachers.

Workshops, in

Research commentary: Technology-mediated learning—a call for greater depth and breadth of research. Other studies have corroborated Yoon et al.

Workshops, in

In addition to teaching history, she is a Teacher Teaching Specialist who works with groups of students and provides training for staff on how to best support the most at-risk populations.

Speakers and Presenters

The key is having professional learning communities that are designed and implemented well. Dunetz served as the founding principal of the Academy for Careers in Television and Film from 2008 until 2013.

Carnegie Learning Meets Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) Federal Funding Requirements through Department of Education

In that capacity, she stewards strategic thinking and programs to maximize the impact that Big Picture can have on young people and the educators that serve them. In 2013 he returned to New Visions as Vice President for School Support and Operations.

Related Books

- Young cricketer
- Autoritarismo nella scuola.
- Implantations humaines et paysages agraires
- Manual X - indirect techniques for demographic estimation.
- Planejamento econômico e social no Brasil de 1930 à 1974 - uma análise bibliográfica