The Father of His Country

On the upland hard by stood, in 1752, a retired little home- stead, with its garden, stackyard, and out-offices, the home of John Bewick, whose father had farmed lands at Bywell and other places on Tyneside from about the year 1 700. A whole week has passed not less than seven clear days have expired and yet not a single Testimonial has been presented to the EARL OP CARDIGAN! From the conquest, anno 1066.
