Participation of Women

Data collection and analysis: We identified 151 articles, which were reviewed independently by two people. Influence of BRAC credit program of socioeconomic development of rural women. Objectives: To assess the effectiveness of different strategies for increasing the participation rate of women invited to community population-based breast cancer screening activities or mammography programs.

Strategies for increasing women participation in community breast cancer screening

Around 22 tasks were categorized into 5 aspects namely pre-planting, planting, intercultural operation, harvesting, and post-harvesting.

The R&A

The purpose is to obtain baseline data on the number of women in maritime and oceans fields and the positions they occupy. Rural women's involvement in rice farming was not at a satisfactory level and proper strategy implementation is required for further increasing the participation extent in rice farming activities.

Participation of Women in Clinical Trials Supporting FDA Approval of Cardiovascular Drugs

. Sex differences in efficacy and safety were assessed. This is related to concerns about levels of participation in engineering overall, and to current concerns about attitudes to and participation in STEM subjects and career pathways generally, and for women in the natural and physical sciences and higher level mathematics at school, university and the workplace.

The Participation of Women in Languedocian Catharism

Participation of rural women in different farm and non-farm activities in two selected villages of Mymensingh district. Attendance in response to the mammogram invitation was the main outcome measure. Our research team focused on the socio-economic and political profiles of elected women representatives in local governance to identify limitations or obstacles hindering full empowerment.

The Participation of Women in Languedocian Catharism

Thirty-four studies were excluded because they lacked a control group; 58 of the other 117 articles were considered as opportunistic and not community-based; 59 articles, which reported 70 community-based randomised controlled trials or clinical controlled trials, were accepted.
