Aviator Dick Rutan Tells of Record

It has a claimed electric-only range of 35 miles.

Dick Rutan

The plane held two small pouches with an inflatable navy life raft and parachutes that were barely adequate for a safe water landing. After graduation, he joined the United States Air Force Aviation Cadet Program.

How Dick Rutan and Burt Rutan Changed Aviation

Part 1 Theater in the Woods presents Shuttle: A Look Back at 40 Years. A panel of Air Force veterans is interviewed about their experiences in the USAF Special Operations Command.

Dick Rutan

Its first flights were in 1998. Dick continues to fly and occasionally speaks at lectures, recounting his Air Force days, record-setting flights, and the time in 2000 he was stranded at the North Pole he was a passenger on a sightseeing aircraft that broke through the ice. Afterburner Al and Paul Preidecker chat with Eric Oconor about being the CF18 demonstration pilot with the Canadian Air Force.

Dick Rutan

On a cold December morning in 1986, Dick Rutan coaxed a fuel laden Voyager to become airborne and begin her journey around the world.

THE NEXT FIVE MINUTES BY DICK RUTAN BOOK

It increased the risk in getting airborne, but I thought it was a greater risk to run out of fuel in Mexico and have to do the whole darn thing over again. A further SpaceshipTwo accident on October 31, 2014 tail number: N339SS resulted in the death of copilot and injuries to the pilot.

Dick Rutan Tested Himself in Combat

The design has two 450 cc , one in each pod, which power a pair of that in turn power the electric motors used for propulsion. On April 2nd, Rutan spoke with NPS students, faculty and guests about the monumental task of designing and building a plane that could handle the trip. Scott Glover and Doug Smith join J-Mont-G to discuss some of the planes at the vintage site.
