Political Changes (1000

This kingdom extended through much of the present day state of Karnataka.

High Middle Ages (1000

The Rajput dynasty 1000-1200 A D promoted irrigation works in northern India. The reverse legend has tentatively been read as 'Wyaghra', which could be the name of a ruler from the many small dynasties that ruled in medieval Gujarat. The Dalavaypuram plates of Parantaka Viranarayana, we found the story of Ila and her son Pururavas, from whom the lineage originated.

Origin Myth (of the Kaveri Delta and the Cholas) [Part 2]

King Nripatungavarman is called Kuruvamsavivardhana in Bahur Plates. The Turks soon annihilated them.

Southern Kingdoms

In the latter period of the Pandya rule development of elegant vimanas with finely sculptured idols and the gopurams or portals of the temples originated. Like the land measures, grain amount or wealth to donate for the temple which actually establish the sovereign political control of the state or king over his land and resources, in or out of his core area. His another Kollam inscription states that the copper images of the Aruvattumavar and nine other saints were made and festivals conducted for them and that certain additions were made to the mantapam in front of the central shrine.

PROGRESS OF SAIVISM IN TIRUNELVELI DURING MEDIEVAL PERIOD

The Chola period 985-1205 A D witnessed the introduction of quite advanced irrigation systems, which brought about prosperity in the Deccan region.

Southern Kingdoms

This was certainly a structural change in the system of state administration from the earlier phase of sub-regional state.

Copper Kasu Coin of Maravarman Sundara Pandya I of Pandyas

The Rastrakutas and the Eastern Chalukyas of the Deccan and the Cholas of the Deep South confronted heavily in this phase for hegemony over the whole south. Ceylon was out of their control and Vikramaditya of the Western Chalukyas marched up to River. Pandyan king took refuge with the entire kingly diadem in Ceylon.
