

Ahmed Maneri studied here for 22 years as his disciple, and Abu Tawwama later gave his daughter's hand in marriage to him. Others have theorised that the reason for moving was because he feared that the scholar's influence was becoming a threat to his dominion and so exiled Abu Tawwama to Sonargaon. Ancient Sonargaon, meaning golden village, was one of the three principalities, an Iqlim of Bangala during the rule of Sultan Ilyas Shah in 1342.
