A defence of the ancient, legal, and constitutional, right of the people: to elect representatives for every session of Parliament; ... In a letter to a member of the Surry Committee. By Granville Sharp.

Thus, while in internal matters each House governs itself, elections for each House are governed by legislation. The Legislature shall regulate entails in such manner as to prevent perpetuities. Indeed, impeachment was invented by Parliament in the fourteenth century as a defense against executive which then meant royal assaults on British constitutional order.

Bill of Rights Institute

The Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor, and the Council, shall meet at the time and place with the General Assembly: the Lieutenant-Governor shall, during the presence of the commander-in-chief, vote and act as one of the Council; and the Governor, and, in his absence, the Lieutenant-Governor, shall, by virtue of their offices, preside in Council, and have a casting, but no other vote. Au Yeung, January 1985, p.

Democracy

But the Commonwealth Parliament was denied a broader power in relation to 'citizenship' generally.

Speaker of the House

This idea persisted in England until war and revolution in the late 1600s led to a Bill of Rights.
