What materials can my business recycle?

When your public understands that recycling is part of the community and how they can be involved, not only do your collection rates go up but your contamination rates go down.

Community Options for Safe Needle Disposal

It is critical to make sure your program is as accessible to the public as possible. Regardless of whether your community is extremely remote or just the opposite and in an urban location, drop-off facilities can make an impact on recycling numbers. South Carolina uses Re-Trac, a software program that keeps track of their numbers.
