About a fifth of all Scottish land changed hands between 1918 and 1921, establishing a pattern which would be repeated through the inter-war period as the great estates contracted.

Parliament

To mark the occasion, Lewis Macdonald tabled the following motion: That the Parliament congratulates everyone at the Aberdeen-based Transition Extreme on its 10th anniversary; notes that the events to celebrate this milestone include a charity abseil at the Aberdeen Exhibition and Conference Centre and a dinner, at which Sir Ranulph Fiennes will be the guest speaker; recognises that, in its 10 years of operation, Transition Extreme has welcomed nearly one million visitors through its doors to take part in activities that include skateboarding, biking and rock climbing; commends what it sees as its important work as a social enterprise, with more than 180 vulnerable young people graduating from its Alternative Academy; recognises the success enjoyed by the graduates, including those who have gone on to become staff members at the centre, and looks forward to Transition Extreme continuing and expanding its work in North East Scotland. Miles Cumning, Edinburgh, for permission to reproduce his photograph of an old lamp post at Middle Pier, Granton Harbour, photos of a pass from the Duke of Buccleuch allowing a carriage to pass along Granton Road and his photos of Portobello Open Air swimming pool.
